

Building

Scotland Yard in the dock

Westminster council is recommending planning permission be granted for the redevelopment of New Scotland Yard. A decision was due on Tuesday night, but critics, including Historic England, have warned harm is likely to be caused to nearby heritage assets by BL

Developments' Ten Broadway scheme. The plans propose the demolition of the existing Metropolitan Police headquarters to be replaced by a Squire and Partners-designed mixed-use development. The project team includes Northacre as development manager, Bilfinger GVA as planning consultant, Aecom as sustainability consultant and Gross Max as the landscape architect.
